Some striatum (and related circuitry) roles in reward and motivations

Kent Berridge, Ph.D.

James Olds Collegiate Professor of Psychology and Neuroscience
University of Michigan

Dr. Berridge is James Olds Collegiate Professor of Psychology and Neuroscience at UM. Research in his lab focuses on questions such as:

What are the neural mechanisms of reward wanting and liking?

How do brain motivation systems normally work?

What goes wrong in addiction?

Does desire share any mechanisms with fear?
